How to Set-Up the Roku at home

- 1) Plug in the Roku using the black power-cord.
- 2) Connect the Roku to your TV using one of the following:
  - a. If you have a STANDARD, NON-HD TV: use the red/yellow/white composite cable
  - b. If you have an HDTV: use the black HDMI cord
- 3) Select the appropriate source on your TV, based on into which port you plugged the cable (ex: HDMI1, AV2, etc.)
- 4) Wait for the Roku to turn on and get to the home-screen.
- 5) To connect your Roku to your home wireless network:
  - a. Settings → Network → Wireless (Wi-Fi) → Set-up New Wi-Fi Connection
  - b. Select your home wireless network
  - c. Enter your password (if applicable)
  - d. The Roku will run through its wi-fi set-up process and should connect automatically.
- 6) Select the Home button on the remote (it looks like a house) to return to the home-screen.

How to Access Library Movies Using VUDU

- 1) Select “VUDU Movies & TV” on the Roku home-screen.
- 2) To access titles owned by Saxton B. Little, scroll to “MY VUDU” on the top of the screen using the arrow keys. Titles on other screens (including “Discover,” etc.) are not available for play.
- 3) Using the arrow keys, choose MOVIES or TV SHOWS.
- 4) Select an item using the OK button on the remote.
- 5) Enjoy!

Keep in mind:

- The Roku does NOT have an on/off switch – the only way to shut it off is to remove it from the power source. Simply unplug the Roku from its power-cord to shut it off.
- Make sure the front of the Roku box is not blocked – otherwise it won’t be able to communicate with the remote.
- Not all content is available on all channels without logging in to a cable provider or paying an additional subscription fee. DO NOT ENTER IN YOUR OWN INFORMATION (per the Roku Lending Policy you signed before checking out the Roku)
